

Enhance Your Career Become a Certified Asthma Educator

with the AARC's Asthma Educator Certification Preparation Course

The AARC's Asthma Educator Certification Preparation Course is more than just preparation for the Asthma Educator Certification Exam. If you achieve the AE-C credential you can enhance your career opportunities. You may be able to pave a new career path as many employers recognize the authority that this credential provides. In fact your skills may allow you to start a home, clinic, or acute care based program.

Plus, the AE-C credential may actually allow you to climb the career ladder within your department. And, since the numbers of AE-C respiratory therapists are limited, your services to an employer may be much more valuable.

And, Certified Asthma Educators can increase opportunities for Respiratory Care departments. For example, departments may be able to increase reimbursement for asthma educational services. In 2006 the CPT coding manual specified three codes that identify respiratory therapists as qualified asthma educators.

These are just a few reasons why you will want to take the AARC's Asthma Educator Certification Preparation Course to prepare for the AE-C Credential Examination.

Learn more reasons at:

www.aarc.org/headlines/aec_reasons.cfm

Here's what a past participant had to say about the course: "This program has a group of experts that provide extensive information with outstanding materials to make each participant successful. This is a well-oiled machine and money well spent."
— Jody Kosanke, M.ED, RRT-NPS

Earn 10.2 Hours of CRCE Credit
While You Prepare for the
AE-C Credentialing Exam

For course details, schedules,
and online registration visit www.AARC.org/education/meetings

LOCATIONS AND DATES

- RENO, NV
July 15-16 2007
- CHARLOTTE, NC
August 25-26 2007
- ORLANDO, FL
November 29-30 2007

American Association for Respiratory Care
www.AARC.org
9425 N MacArthur Blvd # 100, Irving TX 75063
Ph 972-243-2272, Fax 972-484-2720 — info@aarc.org

NOTE: This course is not endorsed, co-sponsored or in any way affiliated with the NAECB.