CALL TO ORDER

President Tim Myers called the meeting of the AARC Board of Directors to order at 8:35 a.m. EST, Monday July 21, 2009.

Secretary-Treasurer Karen Stewart called the roll and declared a quorum.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE REPORT

Executive Director Sam Giordano stated the industry is reorganizing in this economy and regardless of which way Congress votes, the health care reform issue is going to be with us until we get it right. He participated in a conference call with HHS discussing nosocomial infections. AARC will be working with HHS soon, as we're undertaking a project for them to determine how many ventilators are available nationwide in the case of a swine flu pandemic. We have a list of 6,200 hospitals to look at as soon as a contract is signed with HHS. We continue to collaborate with the COPD Coalition who has supported our Part B legislation. The recession hasn't yet affected the number of Association members however we are taking a proactive approach in that we're cutting costs, and developing new sources of revenue, etc.

Chief Operating Officer, Tom Kallstrom, stated the asthma course went online in June and also provides an opportunity to share revenue with the states who previously signed revenue sharing agreements. We're looking at a presence on World COPD Day where RTs could be stationed at every state capitol to perform spirometry. He hopes to have a grant to purchase materials such as spirometers to better accentuate our presence at World COPD Day in 2010.

Executive Office Referral:

FM 08-3-83.2 "That the AARC Executive Office develop a proposal with workflow requirements and financial implications that encompass an online submission and transcript CRCE system. This system should allow the breakdown of five or more content categories to facilitate reporting to state licensure boards and NBRC. Three of those categories should mirror the NBRC requirements of general respiratory care, neonatal/pediatrics, and pulmonary function/diagnostics technology."

Karen Stewart moved "To refer FM 08-3-83.2 to the Executive Office to create a survey to identify the desires of customers and feasibility of changes in CRCE to be category-based with Brian Walsh as liaison from the Board."

Motion Carried

Frank Salvatore will work with Bill Dubbs on a survey to present to the House of Delegates.

Executive Office Referral:

Denise Johnson moved to bring back to the floor HR 94-08-24 "Resolved that the AARC provide the option of direct deposit of state's quarterly revenue sharing checks into affiliates' checking accounts."

Motion Defeated

Definition of Respiratory Care

Respiratory Care is the health care discipline that specializes in the promotion of optimum cardiopulmonary function and health. Respiratory Therapists apply employ scientific principles to prevent, identify, and treat, and prevent acute or chronic dysfunction of the cardiopulmonary system. Knowledge and understanding of the scientific principles underlying cardiopulmonary physiology and pathophysiology, as well as biomedical engineering and technology, enable respiratory therapists to provide patient care services effectively. offer preventative care to, as well as assess, educate, and treat patients with cardiopulmonary deficiencies.

As a health care profession, Respiratory Care is practiced under medical direction across the health care continuum. Critical thinking, patient/environment assessment skills, and evidence-based clinical practice guidelines enable respiratory therapists to develop and implement effective care plans, patient-driven protocols, disease-based clinical pathways, and disease management programs. A variety of venues serve as the practice site for this health care profession including, but not limited to:

- acute care hospitals
- sleep disorder centers and diagnostic laboratories
- rehabilitation, research and skilled nursing facilities
- patients' homes
- patient transport systems
- physician offices
- convalescent and retirement centers
- educational institutions
- medical equipment companies and suppliers
- field representatives and wellness centers.

Position Statement Continuing Education

The need It is critical for all health care practitioners to participate in continuing education in order to enhance their knowledge, improve their clinical practice and meet state licensure and national credentialing requirements. is well established. Participation in continuing education, whether mandatory or voluntary, offers the potential to be one of the most powerful tools to ensure safe, efficient, and quality patient care. In recognition of the value of and need for participation in continuing education, The American Association for Respiratory Care recognizes the value of, and need for, participation in continuing education and recommends that practitioners participate in continuing education educational activities each year. AARC members may utilize the Continuing Respiratory Care Education (CRCE) system as the mechanism for recognition and documentation of such activities. The AARC also supports encourages Respiratory Therapists, striving who have completed the required entry level education, to pursue baccalaureate and graduate degrees after the required entry level education. relevant to their professional pursuits.

AARC members may utilize the Continuing Respiratory Care Education (CRCE) system as the mechanism for recognition and documentation of such activities.

The AARC encourages Respiratory Therapists are encouraged to select their continuing education activities carefully in order to meet their own relevant to their personal and professional needs. Providers of continuing education activities (which can include clinical institutions, educational institutions, public and private associations or organizations, and proprietary corporations) are encouraged to assist respiratory therapists in their efforts with conduct needs assessments in order to design and develop valuable educational activities which that will enable practitioners to meet their professional goals. The use of multimedia, multiple instructional techniques, and multiple exposure strategies are also encouraged to improve retention.

White Paper on Protocols

Guidelines for Respiratory Care Department Protocol Program Structure

Ford Version 11.10.2008

The American Association for Respiratory Care (AARC) is the leading national and international professional association for respiratory care. The AARC encourages and promotes professional excellence, advances the science and practice of respiratory care, and serves as an advocate for patients, their families, the public, the profession and the respiratory therapist. The AARC recognizes and supports the use of respiratory therapy protocols defined as:

Initiation or modification of a patient care plan following a predetermined structured set of physician orders, instructions or interventions in which the therapist is allowed to initiate, discontinue, refine, transition, or restart therapy as the patient's medical condition dictates. Note: This definition should not be confused with programs that include discontinuation of therapy without a reorder, flagging therapy for physician reorder, standing orders or policies that dictate therapy durations

Current medical literature supports the use of respiratory therapy protocols as an effective tool for producing improved patient outcomes and appropriate allocation of services. Protocols have been attributed with:

- Helping respiratory therapists deliver appropriate and efficient care under conditions of an increased workload
- Assuring that all treatments have established indicators
- Reducing the volume of unnecessary care.

Evidence based literature supports the use of protocols to minimize unnecessary treatments and provide self-administration options for patients who demonstrate their ability to do so. Based on the demonstrated efficacy of respiratory therapy protocols, it is the position of the American Association for Respiratory Care that institution-approved protocols should be used by respiratory therapists as the standard of care for providing respiratory therapy services under qualified medical direction.

It is recognized that the characteristics and structure of protocol programs throughout the country have some variability secondary to facility specific policy and practice. All programs however must comply with Federal and State regulations and standards including those published by their State Licensing Boards, The Joint Commission (TJC) as well as the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). The AARC recommends that a policy and procedure governing the application of Patient Driven Protocols be developed. The following policy guidelines are intended to promote compliance with such standards, however each department must refine their specific programs to insure regional compliance. Those responsible for drafting protocols and related policy should incorporate the following recommendations:

- Department policy must specify which respiratory therapists can deliver care outlined in the protocol, inclusive of the competencies required of individuals and demonstration of skills and knowledge.
- Medical Director oversight and accountability for services provided using protocols must also be specified in department policy.
- The protocols should be written to reflect the indications, precautions, and therapy specifics as outlined in the AARC Clinical Practice Guidelines, or other evidence based references.
- All policies related to protocols, as well as the protocols themselves, must be approved by the appropriate institutional governing bodies.
- Policies for protocols must be compliant with other institutional policies related to the provision of care, with specific attention to pharmacy and nursing services. Because many Respiratory Care protocols involve the administration of medication, there must be a single standard throughout the facility regarding the procurement, control and administration of medications.
- A physician order is required to implement respiratory therapy managed by protocols. The order may include a request for "Respiratory Protocol", a specific request such as "MDI Protocol" or other order details as specified and approved by the Medical Staff. (It should be noted that this is an area of contention with some surveying agencies when they encounter a facility that does not require a physician order)

- Protocols must include criteria, thresholds, and decision points that require the physician be notified for continuation of the protocol, options to consider including exemption from protocol with requirements for new non-protocol orders.
- Policy should also define emergent situations in which respiratory therapists can immediately initiate protocols without a physician order. Protocols initiated in this manner shall be reviewed and authorized by physician signature within 24 hours.
- A quality assurance mechanism should be in place to assess if the respiratory therapist is providing care in compliance with protocol as well as capturing adverse responses.
